FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Former Husky Stefan Demos Named Academic All-American

From Northwestern University's NUSports.com comes news that Stefan Demos, a 2006 Horizon High School graduate, has been named to ESPN The Magazine Academic All-Americans.

Demos, named as the second-team place-kicker in the University Division, is a junior communication studies major with a business institutions minor. He handles all three phases of Northwestern's kicking game and has also been honored with the Big Ten Special Teams Player of the Week on three occasions this season.

The College Sports Information Directors of America vote on the Academic All-Americans. To be eligible for the award, a player must be in his second year of athletic eligibility, be a first-team or key performer, and carry a cumulative 3.3 GPA.

To view the full press release on Stefan's academic recognition, go to Northwestern University's athletics website at <http://nusports.cstv.com/sports/m-footbl/spec-rel/112409aab.html>.

Northwestern University has accepted the invitation to play in the 2010 Outback Bowl on January 1. Demos and company will face the Auburn Tigers in Tampa, FL with game time scheduled at 11:00 a.m. ET on ESPN.
